HOME PRIDE.

When the matter of taking part in the great exposition held in Portland last year was first considered the people of this county saw little chance of realizing any direct benefit from the large amount that was our portion toward making up the $500,000 state appropriation for this purpose.

The Times-Herald took not only a business view of this, but also took into consideration the immediate future of the Harney county and quickly took up the suggestion of a friend—a man who is a philosopher in his way and one who takes an interest in the development of this county—that a collection of the game birds of this county be made the attraction of our exhibit.

Those who took a personal interest in making the exhibit did so at a sacrifice to their own business affairs, but it was a success and the only disappointing feature was the inability to dispose of the taxidermy to an advantage.

The Times-Herald again took the matter up and raised the necessary funds by popular subscription to place the collection in position in a suitable building. This has been done and the people now have a more complete collection right at home than that displayed at the Lewis and Clark. It is not only a thing of beauty, but also a great benefit in an educational way.

The Times-Herald takes pleasure in making this announcement and extending an invitation to the people to visit it. This great religious weekly takes an interest in such matters and is ever ready to advance the interests of this section in any legitimate manner. It has pride in home affairs and will never be found knocking.

A MISTAKE.

Some ten or a dozen years ago there appeared in this vicinity a man sent by our Uncle Sam to look after the shiftless and ignorant remnant of what was once a Pute tribe of Indians and to allot them each a certain amount of land. The Times-Herald does not understand the law under which this allotment was made, but at any rate it provides that poor Loo is entitled to a certain amount of land, the exact numbers of acres to be governed by the character of the land. This is held in trust by the government for a period of 25 years and cannot be disposed of in any manner during that period. Each Indian was given 160 acres of land in the very heart of this valley, that being the number of acres allowed for purely grazing land. At that time it is true it was considered grazing land, but since practical and diversified farming pursuits have been taken up it proves to be some of the most desirable land for agricultural in the valley.

It was a mistake but one that is almost impossible (if not entirely so) to rectify. If the Indians would really do something with it the matter would not be deplored. But this is out of the question. This instance is one of many that show the lack of foresight in humanity. No doubt these Indian allotments could have been made on purely grazing land, or either kept within the limit of the agricultural land allotted to the Red Man, had the people foreseen the future of this valley. But as it we're "up against it" unless someone can suggest a way out of it.

GLADYS THURSIE SWAIN.

The death of Gladys Swain, the nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Swain at the family home in this city last Thursday afternoon was the result of diabetes from which the little one suffered for more than a year. She had been a very patient little sufferer and through her self-denial and will power had kept the dread reaper away for a longer period than was thought for by her loving parents and relatives. She was the youngest of a large family yet the first to go.

The funeral services were held at the home yesterday afternoon, being conducted by Rev A. J. Irwin. Most beautiful and appropriate music was rendered by Mrs. Wm. Farre, Miss Byram, Miss Williams, Messrs N. U. Carpenter, Platt Randall, Drs Marsden and Brown. The floral offerings were most beautiful for this season of the year and many friends were present to extend their sympathy and take a last view of their former cheerful little friend.

Interment was made in the I. O. O. F. cemetery.

The city election last Tuesday resulted in the election of C. Cummins mayor, J. J. Donegan and John Gemberling councilmen, M. L. Lewis recorder, Emmett Reed treasurer and John Thomas marshal. There were two tickets in the field for all the officers and three names for marshal. The other candidates were: For mayor A. W. Gowan; councilmen, F. A. Cole, M. R. Smith; recorder, L. Woldenberg; treasurer, V. J. Hopkins; marshal, Robt. Hudson and H. E. Thompson.
